

Documentary Screening & Director's Talk 【A Kali Temple Inside Out】

Time	December 11, 2018 (Tue) 18:30~21:30
Venue	“Daiwahouse Ishibashi Nobuo Memorial Hall” (3F, Daiwa Ubiquitous Computing Research Building), Hongo Campus, University of Tokyo
Speaker	Dr. Dipesh Kharel (Documentary Director, Visual Ethnographer)
Film Language	Hindi (Subtitle: English)
Talk Language	English
Film Introduction	Religious boundaries are not necessarily as sharp and antagonistic as the news media lead us to believe. This ethnographic film follows devotees of the Hindu goddess Kali to understand why devout Hindus may well visit Sikh temples and Sufi-Muslim tombs besides temples for divine assistance. By showing the everyday life inside and around a Kali temple in the city of Kanpur, Uttar Pradesh, India, the film presents itself as a silent critique against the obsession with religious conflict in contemporary debates. (Film length: 83 minutes)

Organizer: Educational Project S, IHS Program, University of Tokyo

In cooperation with: Professor Hayashi Kaori Lab, III/GSII, University of Tokyo